Madison Police Department

Acting Chief of Police James Cooke

2017 - Present

Jim Cooke began his career in Law Enforcement with the Saint Lucie County Sheriff's Department in Florida in 1987. Jim was a State Certified Corrections Officer and worked as an Intake Officer at the St. Lucie County Jail.

He returned to Alabama in 1989 after being hired by the Madison County Sheriff's Department. Jim worked in the jail for six months and was then moved to Patrol where he worked as a Patrol Deputy. Jim transferred to Investigations in 1992 and worked as a Crime Scene Investigator and then a Criminal Investigator.

Major Cooke began his career with the Madison Police Department in 1997. During his 19 years at MPD, Jim has served as a D.A.R.E. Officer, S.R.O., Patrol Officer, Investigator, Sergeant, Lieutenant and Captain. Jim was promoted to Major in 2012.

Through his career, Major Cooke has obtained hundreds of hours of training, specializing in crime scene and homicide investigations. He has investigated hundreds of death and felony cases, including capital cases.

Jim has also served as a member of the Alabama National Guard as a Combat Engineer and a Legal Specialist. Major Cooke served a year in the jungles of Ecuador in 1986.

Jim was born on Redstone Arsenal and is a 1985 graduate of East Limestone High School. Jim and his wife Debbie have been married for twenty seven years. Their son attended Bob Jones High School and graduated from The University of Alabama with a B.S. in engineering. Jim's parents, Jim and Diane, live on a small farm in Jackson County which has been owned by the family since 1828. Jim has two sisters, one is a doctor and one is a court reporter. Both live in the area.

Mission Statement

The Madison City Police Department is dedicated to protecting and serving our community to the highest standard attainable. Our goal is to enhance the quality of life of every citizen through professional police services.

TEXT TO PROTECT

In 2010, MPD learned that students either did not know how to communicate with the police or, in most cases, refrained from communicating with police because of the stigma of being labeled as a "snitch" among their peers. MPD realized that they needed a mechanism for communicating with students that was immediately accessible to them, easy to use, provided for two-way communication, and ensured confidentiality. In response, the MPD, established Text-to-Protect, a text line originally designed for students to provide information on criminal activity, quality-of-life issues, and welfare concerns. The Madison City School System helped to promote Text-to-Protect in all 13 city schools with posters placed in hallways, classrooms, and meeting places within the schools. School resource officers (SROs) proved to be invaluable by educating the students about the purpose and function of the program. Students learned that they could seek help or counseling for themselves or friends who were considering suicide, had problems with depression, eating disorders, or just needed to find someone to listen to their concerns. SROs explained that the MPD was committed to providing a safe learning environment free of criminal activity, but also genuinely cared about the health and welfare of the students. Text-to-Protect officially launched on May 5, 2010. MPD has received texts from citizens as young as eight years old and as old as 75, with the majority of those coming from the school system. Text-to-Protect has become a means of identifying young people who need help coping with life's hardships. As a result of the information generated from the tip line, SROs have made successful interventions with students seriously contemplating suicide, students with eating disorders, reports of bullying (beyond one-time incidents), narcotics reports, assaults, property crimes, reports of weapons in schools (including firearms and knives), suspected child abuse, runaway juveniles, threats of school violence, and numerous other tips of potential criminal activity in Madison City Schools. As a result of the program's adoption by the public, the MPD regularly receives valuable information that leads to the prevention of criminal activity and the apprehension of criminal offenders. One of the most significant lessons learned from the Text-to-Protect Program and the partnerships that created it is the importance of police recognition of the importance of the youth in our communities as stakeholders who can positively contribute to the department's mission.

Reserve Program

The Madison Police Department's Police Officer Reserve Program is committed to supporting the mission of the Department. Reserve Police Officers are volunteers who are selected according to the same criteria as certified officers. The MPD Reserve selects only applicants of the highest quality. They undergo the same police training as certified officers to include a thirteen week academy. Our Reserve Officers attend the Reserve Academy in the evenings , after they have already worked their regular jobs.

The MPD Reserve assists with special events such as street festivals, carnivals, Special Olympics, special enforcement details, and other events throughout the year. Reserve Officers regularly accompany certified officers on patrol, providing immediate back up on every call. Our Reserve Officers are the ultimate example of the Madison Police Department's community policing philosophy. In the words of Sir Robert Peele, "The public are the police and the police are the public."

In 1929, during the creation of the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program, law enforcement and criminologists of the late 1920's and early 1930's selected a specific set of offenses, which they believed to be the most severe and prevalent crimes across the Nation, to form what we consider today as the UCR Crime Index. This Index consists of the violent crimes of murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, and the property crimes of burglary, theft, and motor vehicle theft. This Index is used today Nation-wide by law enforcement to measure changes in the volume and rate of crimes reported by law enforcement agencies.

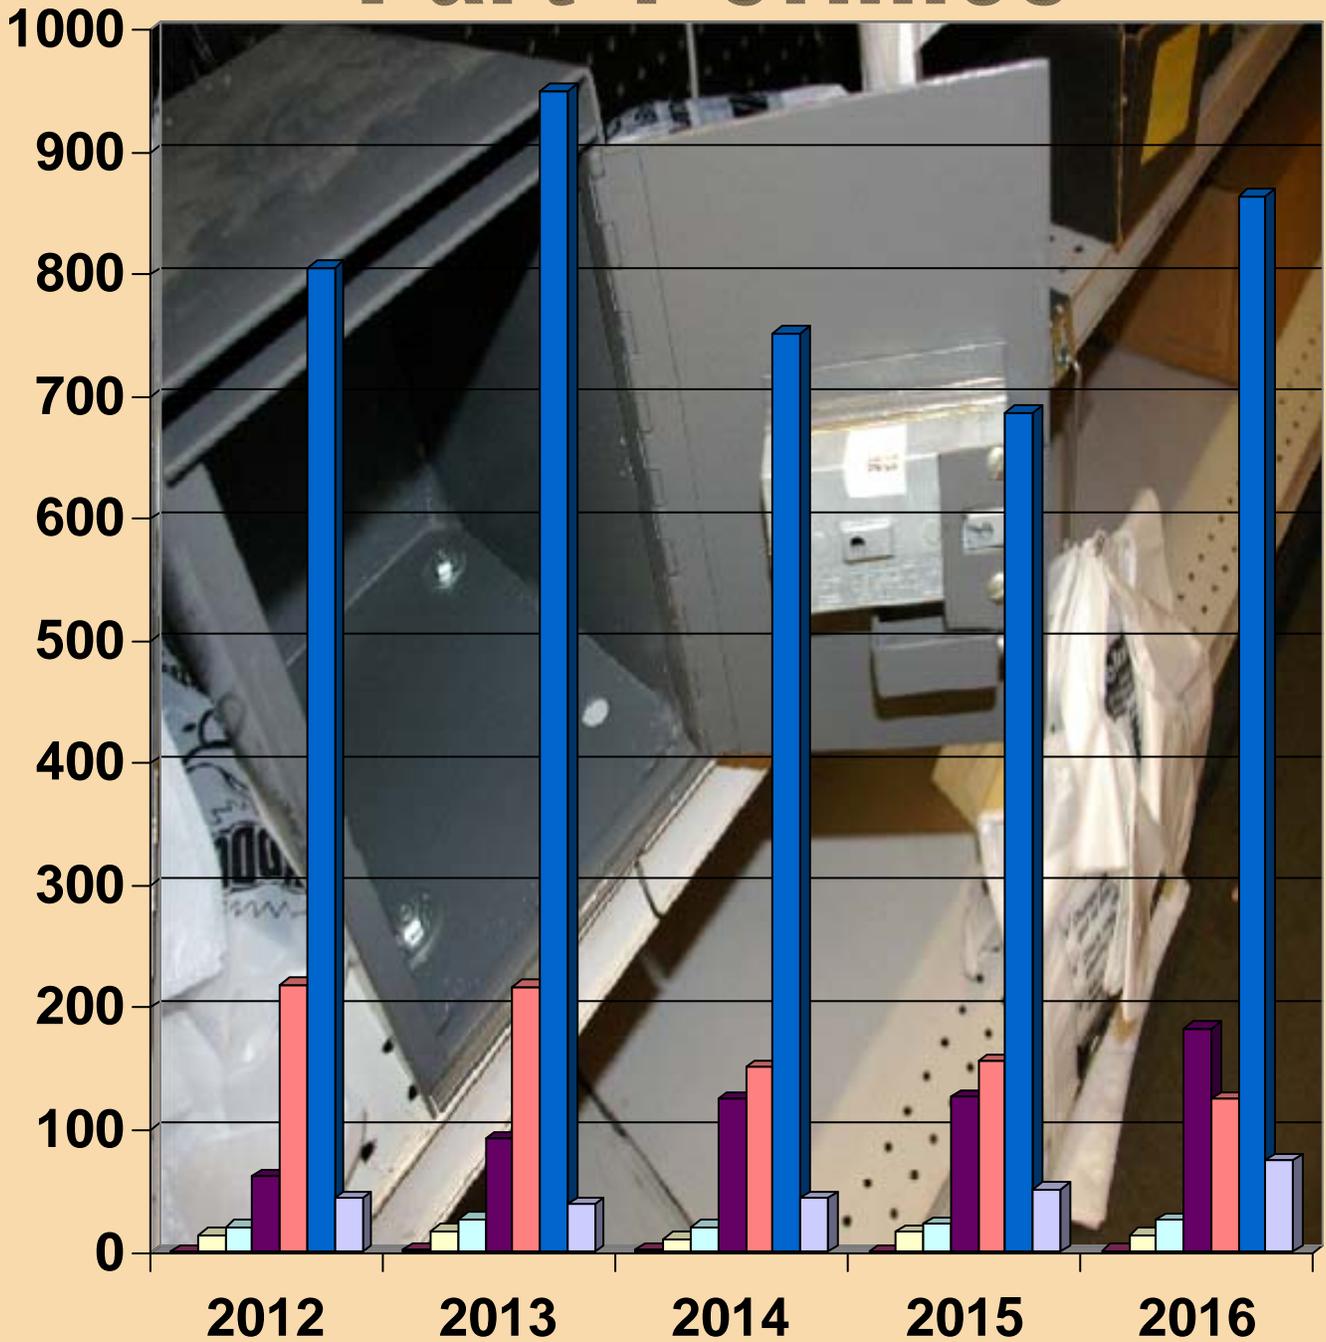

The Madison Police Department utilizes these offense criteria to report and record the fluctuations of local crimes and help the UCR Division of the Alabama Criminal Justice Center (ACJIC) create a comprehensive representation of violent crimes within the State of Alabama. Relevant law enforcement data is also routinely submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for inclusion in the national UCR Program.

Crime Clock

CRIME CLOCK

	Madison 2016	Alabama 2015	National 2015
One Murder every	365 Days	1 Days	33 Minutes
One Rape every	26 Days	4 Hours	2 Minutes
One Robbery every	14 Days	2 Hours	90 Seconds
One Aggravated Assault every	2 Days	30 Minutes	36 Seconds
One Burglary every	3 Days	15 Minutes	18 Seconds
One Theft every	10 Hours	5 Minutes	6 Seconds
One Motor Vehicle Theft every	5 Days	52 Minutes	42 Seconds

The Crime Clock should be viewed with care. It conveys the annual reported crime experience by showing a relative frequency of occurrence of Part I offenses. The Crime Clock represents the annual ratio of crime to fixed time intervals. It should not be taken to imply regularity in the commission of crime.

*Prior to 2013, Rape included only female victims. In 2013 the definition of rape was expanded by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting Program to include male victims and other types of sexual assault offenses. Because of this change, the number of reported rapes increased in 2013 compared to 2012.

Kids Camp

The Madison Police Department School Resource Unit hosts an annual camp for Fifth Grade students in the City of Madison. The Kids' Camp is offered to Fifth Grade students who have completed the Too Good For Drugs Program taught by School Resource Officers (SROs). It is an opportunity for students to spend time with police officers in a less formal setting. There are three one week sessions each summer with about 80 to 100 students participating in each session.

Students are given the opportunity to have group and individual interaction with their police officers. During their week at Kids' Camp, the students learn about Madison Police Department and the role of police officers in our community. They are also able to see demonstrations from specialized units such as the SWAT Team, K9 Team, Crime Scene, and the Madison Fire Department's Safe House. Some of these demonstrations allow for interactive experiences where students to get to "try out" for the SWAT

Team on an obstacle course. There are also demonstrations from HEMSI, Med-Flight, and Limestone County Sheriff's Helicopter Unit.

The week is not all police demonstrations though. The SROs plan special outings for the students that are just plain fun. There is a "pool day" where camp participants and the officers spend a morning at the Dublin Park swimming pool. Another day is set aside for skating with SROs at the Insanity Skate Park. The students are also divided into teams, each led by an SRO, that compete throughout the week in dodgeball, kickball, and tug-of-war tournaments.

MADISON POLICE FOUNDATION

Mission Statement

The Madison Alabama Police Foundation is a non-profit organization supported by the community to promote business and citizen participation in maintaining a safe community. As a link between the police and the public they serve, the foundation provides support beyond the realm of traditional resources.

Foundation Activities

The goal of the Madison Police Foundation is to provide funding for activities that promote the welfare, livelihood, image, and safety of the community. Revenue for the MPF comes in the form of donations and membership fees. These funds allow the MPF to make donations to families of police officers that have been killed in the line of duty and the Foundation provides a $100,000 life insurance policy for each Madison police officer. The Foundation also supports Rape Aggression Defense classes, Kids Camp and the Police Softball Team.
